Editor's note

Poštovane kolege i prijatelji,

Potvrdili smo da tek izazovi sa kojima se susrećemo izvuku iz nas ono najbolje. I što su prepreke na koje nailazimo veće, naši odgovori moraju biti značajniji i odlučniji. U tom smislu, stvaranje stručno medicinskog časopisa u uslovima COVID-19 pandemije je predstavljalo poseban izazov i veliku odgovornost. Zato je pravo pitanje danas – šta smo uspjeli da postignemo i šta sada činimo kako bi smo stvorili osnove za dalji razvoj časopisa u vremenu kada pandemija ostane iza nas.

Pred Vama je šesti broj časopisa „Medicinska reč” sa radovima potpuno različitih tema, što pokazuje da je svoje mesto našao u svim granama medicine i da su sve kolege prepoznale značaj pisane reči. Biće potrebno, naravno, još mnogo posvećenosti, rada i znanja kako bi smo obezbedili kontinuitet i najviši stepen kvaliteta. Velika snaga „Medicinske reči” je u dobrom razumevanju i saradnji, i upravo uspešan rad u vreme pandemije pokazao je značaj ove saradnje. I pored brojnih prepreka koje nas očekuju, verujem da smo zajedničkim delovanjem stvorili uslove da na budućnost možemo da gledamo sa optimizmom.

Hvala svim autorima, recenzentima i stručnim saradnicima koji su pomogli da ostvarimo uspeh u uslovima nesvakidašnjih izazova.

Dear colleagues and friends,

We have confirmed that only the challenges we are facing get the best out of us. And the greater the obstacles we encounter, the more significant and decisive our responses must be. In that sense, the creation of a professional medical journal in the conditions of the COVID-19 pandemic was a special challenge and a great responsibility. That is why the real question today is - what have we managed to achieve and what are we doing now in order to create the basis for further development of the magazine at a time when the pandemic is behind us.

There is the sixth issue of the journal “Medical word” in front of you, with papers on completely different topics, which shows that it has found its place in all branches of medicine and that all colleagues have recognized the importance of the written word. Of course, much more dedication, work, and knowledge will be needed to ensure continuity and the highest level of quality. The great strength of “Medical word” is in good understanding and cooperation, and the successful work during the pandemic showed the importance of this cooperation. Despite the numerous obstacles awaiting us, I believe that by working together we have created the conditions to look to the future with optimism.

Many thanks to all the authors, reviewers, and professional associates who helped us achieve success facing the unusual challenges.
