Editor's note

Poštovane kolegice i kolege, cenjeni saradnici, dragi prijatelji,

Esteemed colleagues and associates,
dear friends

Na XXI kongresu NAUZRS koji se tradicionalno održava u Vrnjačkoj Banji okupljaju se i ovog puta zdravstveni radnici različitih profila kako bi prikazali i sumirali stečena znanja i prikazali novine koje su od značaja za lečenje i zdravstvenu negu pacijenata. Kroz četiri plenarna predavanja, okrugle stolove i stručna saopštenja, kolege će izneti svoja iskustva, primere stručne prakse i usvojene zaključke i preporuke za rad, što će omogućiti promociju i napredak zdravstvene profesije. Takođe, predstaviće se inovativne metode lečenja, savremeni farmaceutski pristupi i novi dijagnostički predlozi i rešenja.

Savremena medicina temelji se na multidisciplinarnom pristupu i timskom radu u prevenciji, dijagnostici i lečenju pacijenata, kao i pružanju zdravstvene nege. Svi članovi tima daju podjednake doprinose, te otuda i veliki broj radova na ovom kongresu u kojima su sagledane iste teme, ali sa različitih aspekata. Upravo ta raznovrsnost u pristupu omogućice bolje razumevanje aktuelnih izazova i mogućnosti za njihovo rešavanje.

U ime Naučnog i Organizacionog odbora kongresa zahvaljujemo se akreditovanim plenarnim predavačima koji su prihvatili poziv da učestvuju na XXI kongresu NAUZRS, kao i svima koji su predali svoja stručna saopštenja i tako postali deo ovog broja našeg časopisa.

At the 21th Congress of the National Association of Health Workers in Serbia, which is traditionally held in Vrnjačka banja, healthcare workers of various profiles gather again this time to present and summarize the acquired knowledge and innovate novelties that are important for the treatment and health care of patients. Through four plenary lectures, round tables, and expert announcements, colleagues will present their experiences, examples of professional practice, and adopted conclusions and recommendations for work, enabling the promotion and progress of the health profession. Innovative treatment methods, modern pharmaceutical approaches, and new diagnostic proposals and solutions will also be displayed.

Modern medicine is based on a multidisciplinary approach and teamwork in the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of patients, as well as the provision of health care. All members of the team contribute equally, and hence, the large number of papers at this congress look at the same topics but from different aspects. It is precisely this diversity in approach that will enable a better understanding of current challenges and opportunities for solving them.

On behalf of the Scientific and Organizational Committee of the congress, we would like to thank the accredited plenary lecturers who accepted the invitation to participate in the 21th Congress of the National Association of the Healthcare Workers in Serbia, as well as everyone who submitted their professional reports and thus became part of this issue of our journal.
