Editor's note

Poštovane kolegice i kolege, uvaženi čitaoci,

Uredništvo časopisa „Medicinska reč” ima ogromno zadovoljstvo da Vam predstavi novi, osamnaesti po redu broj časopisa. Počastvovani smo što su nam poverenje ukazale kolegice i kolege, među kojima ima onih sa kojima smo već sarađivali, ali još više onih koji su nam po prvi put poslali svoje rukopise. U ovom broju objavljujemo šest radova različite tematike iz oblasti medicinske struke, od čega su tri prikazi slučajeva iz kardiološke, psihijatrijske i onkološke prakse, dok su ostali radovi revijalnog karaktera i predstavljaju rezultat interdisciplinarnе saradnje kolega iz oblasti psihologije, radiologije, kardiologije i hematologije. Svi radovi su, kao i do sada, na raspolaganju čitaocima u štampanom i elektronskom obliku u otvorenom pristupu.

I ovog puta posebno bih istakla značajan doprinos recenzenata u podizanju kvaliteta radova koji se objavljuju u našem časopisu, što ga svakim danom čini još bolje pozicioniranim na domaćoj i međunarodnoj naučnoj sceni.

Pozivam sve kolegice i kolege na buduću saradnju, razmenu iskustava i znanja kroz rukopise koje nam šalju, što sve zajedno omogućava razvoj lekarske i sestrinske prakse u celini i jačanje profesionalnog identiteta.

Dear colleagues, dear readers,

The editors of the journal “Medical Word” have great pleasure in presenting you with the new, eighteenth issue. We are honored that our colleagues have shown us their trust, among whom there are those with whom we have already collaborated, but even more those who sent us their papers for the first time. In this issue, we publish six papers on different topics from the medical profession, three of which are case reports from cardiology, psychiatry and oncology practice, while the other papers are of a review nature and represent the result of interdisciplinary collaboration of colleagues from the fields of psychology, radiology, cardiology, and hematology. All works are, as before, available to readers in printed and electronic form in open access.

And this time, I would like to emphasize the significant contribution of the reviewers in raising the quality of the papers published in our journal, which every day makes it even better positioned on the domestic and international scientific scene.

I invite all my colleagues to future cooperation, exchange of experiences, and knowledge through the papers they send us, which all together enable the development of medical and nursing practice as a whole and the strengthening of professional identity.
