Editor's note

Poštovane kolegice i kolege, dragi čitaoci,

Pred vama je nov broj našeg časopisa, koji i ovog puta potvrđuje značaj multidisciplinarnog pristupa u savremenoj medicini i naučnoistraživačkom radu. Sa zadovoljstvom predstavljamo devet stručnih i naučnih radova iz različitih oblasti medicine, koji svojim kvalitetom, aktuelnošću i praktičnim značajem doprinose unapređenju medicinske prakse i akademske zajednice.

Raznovrsnost tema zastupljenih u ovom broju govori u prilog činjenici da medicina danas više nego ikada zahteva međusobno povezivanje znanja, iskustava i različitih specijalnosti. Autori su kroz svoje radove prikazali savremene dijagnostičke i terapijske pristupe, rezultate istraživanja, kao i izazove sa kojima se svakodnevno susreću u kliničkom radu. Posebnu vrednost predstavlja spoj naučne utemeljenosti i primenljivosti u praksi, što ovaj broj čini značajnim kako za lekare različitih specijalnosti, tako i za sve zdravstvene radnike, uključene u proces lečenja i nege pacijenata.

Koristim priliku da izrazim zahvalnost autorima na ukazanom poverenju, recenzentima na stručnosti i posvećenosti, kao i članovima uredništva koji kontinuirano rade na očuvanju kvaliteta i ugleda časopisa. Njihov zajednički doprinos omogućava da naš časopis bude mesto stručnog dijaloga, razmene iskustava i promocije medicinske nauke.

Verujemo da će radovi objavljeni u ovom broju podstaći nova istraživanja, otvoriti važna stručna pitanja i doprineti daljem unapređenju zdravstvene zaštite.

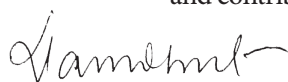

Dear colleagues, dear readers,

It is my great pleasure to present the new issue of our magazine, which once again confirms the importance of a multidisciplinary approach in modern medicine and scientific research. The issue includes nine professional and scientific papers from various fields of medicine, which contribute to the improvement of medical practice and the academic community with their quality, relevance and practical importance.

The variety of topics represented in this issue reflect the fact that modern medicine more than ever requires the integration of knowledge, experiences and collaboration among different specialties. Through their work, the authors have presented modern diagnostic and therapeutic approaches, research results, as well as the challenges they face every day in clinical work. A special value of this issue is the balance between scientific rigor and applicability in practice, making it valuable both for physicians of various specialties and for all health workers involved in the process of treatment and patient care.

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to the authors for their trust, to the reviewers for their expertise and commitment, as well as to the members of the editorial board who continuously work to preserve the quality and reputation of this journal. Their collective commitment enables that our journal remains a platform for professional dialogue, exchange of experiences and promotion of medical science.

We hope that the papers published in this issue will inspire new research, open important professional discussions and contribute to the further improvement of health care.
